How to use this guide

When does the National Park Service let campers start making reservations for the next year? When do state parks open online reservations?

To answer these questions — and keep it all straight — we did the research for you.

Our guide has all U.S. National Parks and all State Parks sorted in several different ways.

National Park reservation openings are presented in multiple lists:

- Alphabetically
- Allow reservations 12 months in advance
- First come, first served
- and those that do not allow camping

State Park reservation openings are presented alphabetically, grouped together by state. National Parks are included in the state-by-state breakdown as well.

Browse by National Park, browse by parks in your state, browse by reservation window — the choice is yours.
